Biggest Stake is in Water Election for All County Residents

"Yes" Vote Assures More Water

Residents of the County outside the City of San Diego have the biggest stake in the water election Tuesday, February 26. That election will determine the fate of the long-sought second barrel of the Aqueduct, which will bring us the additional Colorado River water so urgently needed in all County Areas.

These areas, specifically those which are member agencies of the San Diego County Water Authority, are desperately in need of this added supply. If the decision were ours to make, the second barrel would be assured.

But the decision will be made by our friends in the City. For this reason:

The second barrel contract between the Water Authority and the Navy requires a simple majority of the total vote in all member agencies. There is little doubt that this proposition will carry by a wide margin. But to make the contract binding, all member agencies including the City of San Diego must approve a collateral agreement guaranteeing water supplies to government establishments.

With the exception of the City of San Diego, the governing bodies of every member agency have approved the collateral agreement, which therefore does not have to be submitted to a popular vote. However, in the City, charter provisions require approval of the part by a two-thirds vote of the electorate.

If San Diego voters fail to give the necessary two-thirds majority, the second barrel project cannot go forward.

Sending this possibility, the San Diego County Irrigation District Officers Association has decided to appeal directly to San Diego voters to rally behind the second barrel proposition and particularly the collateral agreement.

As the economic interests of the City and the County are so closely joined, there is reason to believe San Diego voters will heed the appeal.

But, let's take no chances. You, Mr. and Mrs. County Voter, can help the Association's campaign by urging everyone you know in San Diego to vote "Yes" on both the second barrel and collateral agreement propositions February 26.

Write them and tell them how desperately we need the additional water. Mention it when you visit or see anyone who lives in San Diego.

With your co-operation, and that of thousands of other County residents, we can get the support we need from San Diego City.

But time is short—so do your part now—Today!

Many Chambers Meet at Dinner to Discuss "Water"

At the Regional Chamber of Commerce dinner at Casper's Ranch Monday evening, Lemon Grove was officially represented by Mrs. Beatrice Garber, of Hilltop Chateau. Attending with her were Misses James Dougherty, H. Irving Vernier and Jeannette Vaughn. Since the 10 men directors of the Chamber were not present, Lemon Grove had the distinction of being the only community out of 16 to be represented solely by women.

One hundred thirty four were present from Alpine, Borrego, Chula Vista, Coronado, El Cajon, Highway 10 Group, Julian, Lakeside, La Mesa, Lemon Grove, National City, Ramona, San Ysidro, South Bay District, Spring Valley and La Jolla.

The scheduled speakers emphasized "water" and so did the delegates from the various chambers who spoke during the discussion period.

Ralph Phillips, chairman of the Greater San Diego Water committee, covered the following points:

1. The need to secure our full entitlement from the Colorado River (he urged a "yes" vote in the February 26 election).
2. The need for developing local water resources consistent with good engineering practices (Sutherland Dam and cloud seeding).
3. The need for protecting our rights in the Colorado River (legislation is pending in Washington).
4. The immediate and continuing need to eliminate waste.
5. A study of the State water plan to bring water from Northern California.
6. The reclamation of water from sewage.
7. The reclamation of sea water.

PTA Meeting in New San Miguel Auditorium

Founder's Day will be observed by the Lemon Grove School PTA next Thursday evening, at the auditorium of the new San Miguel School on San Miguel Avenue, at 7:30. Mrs. Gilbert Durham, a past president, is chairman. One of the high lights of the program will be the awarding of the two honorary life memberships, given for outstanding work with children. The Green Robe Choir from Helix High School will sing, and Mrs. G. D. Edwards, Ninth District president, will be the guest speaker.

The executive board of the PTA met at the home of Mrs. John Dail, 3240 Olive street, Tuesday evening.

David Barnes, coordinator of guidance and attendance, San Diego County Schools, led a discussion on ways and means of sponsoring a recreational program for youth of the community.

A committee was appointed by Mrs. S. K. Solleder, president, to investigate possibilities for setting up such a program for children.

The group also discussed the bake sale which the association will sponsor in the near future. The possibilities of new PTA units in the district received the attention of board members.

CIVIC LEAGUE MEETS

The regular monthly meeting of the Civic League of Vista La Mesa will be held on Tuesday, February 26, in the Vista La Mesa Elementary School building, at 8:00 p. m.

SCHOOL CLOSED FRIDAY

Next Friday, February 22, all schools in the Lemon Grove District will be closed for the State observance of George Washington's birthday, as they were for Lincoln's birthday.

IN HOSPITAL

Diane Browne, 11 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Browne, 3065 Corona, was taken to Paradise Hospital for an emergency appendectomy. She is recuperating nicely.

Jewelry and Auto Stores Burglarized

The third burglary in as many days occurred this (Thursday) morning about 1 o'clock when the large plate glass in the front window of Walter's Jewelry was broken by miscreants.

Although the hole in the glass was large enough for a man to crawl through, the place was not entered. Four wedding rings were all that were missing.

Jerry Walter, proprietor, stated that the thieves were probably frightened away by the burglar alarm, set off by cracking of the glass.

The night police patrol had gone by about 1 o'clock and coming back Broadway seven minutes later were attracted by the alarm. They called the Sheriff's department, which responded quickly.

Fingerprints were obtained in the morning. An award of $100 cash is offered for arrest and conviction.

Mr. Walter's loss and damage is fully covered by insurance. Auto Supply Robbed

When William DeHoff of the Broadway Auto Supply, directly across the street from Walter's, went to work Tuesday morning he found that the window in the rear door had been broken. He found that $50 in cash, about $500 worth of hand tools, batteries, etc., had been taken. There was no insurance.

Freight Car Opened

Some time early Tuesday morning the seal on a freight car on the side-track near Prevost Bros. was broken and many paper sacks of feed and other consignments for Mason's Feed and Supply.

Breaking of a seal on a railroad car is a federal offense and punishment would be heavy were the vagrants caught.

Junior Members to Register on Saturday

Members of the Woman's Club Juniors, who took voters' registrations on Broadway near the Bank Saturday, had a most satisfactory day as they made 100 registrations and could have made more had they had more supplies.

Mrs. O. L. Meyer, Mrs. L. A. Bellwood, Mrs. Burney Bray and Mrs. H. G. Hatton will be taking registrations at the same place each Saturday until April 10.

Daun Barber, AAF, Lands in England

Pfc Daun E. Barber, AAF, arrived at Southampton, Eng., on February 2 and the next day was taken on a tour to Bath, as told in a letter received this week by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Barber, 2336 Bonita.

He is stationed at Fairford Air Base as a mechanic. He expects to be there three years and is anticipating many trips. Fairford is considered the best in the United Kingdom, and is located near Witney, London.

Daun and Dave Rider, of San Diego, enlisted at the same time, went through training together including a Bomber school at Wichita Falls, Tex. They are still together in England. Daun also saw Bill Terhaar, 7024 Mt. Vernon, at the Px on the Base.

Daun would be glad to hear from friends. His address is AF19380443, 7507 Oper. Sq., 7507 Air Base Group, care of P. M., New York.

Kiwanis Auction to Benefit Local Projects

The Kiwanis Club of Lemon Grove will make a collection of articles for its First Annual Auction on Thursday evening, February 21, at 7:00 p. m.

A sound truck will tour the residential district announcing the collection, with trucks following to pick up donations. This is a good chance to dispose of those things around your house which you can no longer use and which are only in the way.

Everyone should take part in this project of the Kiwanis Club as the proceeds will be of direct benefit to the people of Lemon Grove. The funds raised by this First Annual Auction will be used for the purchase of a Radio Alarm System for the Lemon Grove Fire Department and for the Kiwanis Youth Fund. Both of these projects are of great interest to the people in this area.

Help the community and help yourself by placing usable articles in front of your home when you hear the sound truck in your neighborhood Thursday evening, February 21.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL

G. R. Graham, publisher of the Review, returned to his home at 2438 Bonita, on Tuesday from Paradise Valley Hospital where he had undergone a radical mastoidectomy on January 27. He is confined to his bed at home and hopes to be back to his office much sooner than his doctor anticipated.

Nurses are People

The publisher of the Review has just returned home from a 17-day sojourn at Paradise Valley Hospital.

While there he was in the hands of a fine group of nurses who looked after his every need—too well at times, he thought. They followed the orders on his chart to the letter; even to every comma, semi-colon and period. They wouldn't deviate from the doctor's orders not one iota. Not even when I had the doctor's verbal permission, though my roommate in the next bed acted as a witness to the fact that doc had said I could have an order changed.

There was the motherly type of nurse who hovered over me like a mother over her sick child.

Then there was the little nurse whose eyes sparkled every time she spoke, as she handled the hypo with deft fingers and always left me with a feeling of a hypo well administered; and the black-eyed little Italian nurse from Michigan who liked her spaghetti; after my morning bath she had me cheered up and ready for a full day of doing nothing by lying in bed and reading.

And the tall blond, also from Michigan whose lithe fingers soothed my unfevered brow (I never did get the thermometer above 97°). Another nurse, who I liked to kid her patients along, would scold as she checked the trays after meals, if she thought we didn't eat enough to satisfy the inner man. But she and I parted as good friends when I put the flag from the patriotic cup cake in the lapel of my lounging robe that last day, celebrating her birthday along with Abe Lincoln. And the dark haired nurse from Mississippi, who, when I said "You all don't talk like a Southerner," "No," she said in perfect midwestern American, "I dropped my Southern drawl when they all laughed at me." So easy to discard as that.

Oh, yes, there was poker face who went about her work without a smile, never seeing the joke when the patients tried to kid her. And the nurse who didn't think it a bit funny when I said she could get a job at Sing Sing when she shaved the side of my head before I went into surgery.

The Paradise Valley Hospital is a busy place. There were 13 operations the day I went under the knife, drill, chisel, or whatever instrument the surgeons used on my head. The peak was reached last Sunday with 16 operations but fell off the next day to a mere ten. People are hauled around like merchandise but handled with a tender care that a mother bestows upon a sick child.

Yes, the nurses at Paradise Valley Hospital are people—real human beings. And how I loved the Choral singers each morning—after enough hearing returned so that I could distinguish sounds.

Enrollment in Local School Marks Growth

The enrollment numbers in the Lemon Grove School District continue to grow, with 2146 students now attending classes in the five district schools. The Lemon Grove Intermediate School leads with 516 pupils in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades; Golden Avenue School reports 511; there are 412 enrolled at Vista La Mesa School; Monterey Heights School has 402; and the new San Miguel School boasts 303 boys and girls.

In order to keep class loads as nearly equal as possible, it has been necessary this school year to transfer many pupils from school to school. This is true especially in the primary grades where the enrollment is very heavy. With a new school opened in the district and additions at other schools already constructed or nearing completion, it is hoped that this shifting of young students from school to school will be kept at a minimum.

However, the setting up of definite school boundaries at this time has been delayed, due to the uneven class loads which would result. Thus the first grade boundaries for the new school differ from the ones set up for some other grade in the same building. This permits an even distribution of the class load, but presents certain disadvantages in transportation.

If boundaries are to be established for each school, some class loads will be so uneven as to necessitate a combination of classes with two grades under one teacher.

The district is studying the problem to determine which method would be of greater benefit for the children for next year.

It is interesting to note that the graduating class of the eighth grade this year numbers 160; the present kindergarten class, which will be graduating in eight short years, has an enrollment of 348.

District Advisor Talks to Juniors

Donald Durnell of the San Diego Junior Chamber of Commerce told of the Sportsman's Show to be given this spring and the club voted to sponsor an entrant in the contest for a queen.

Miss Harriet Sherwood, Mrs. William Miller and Mrs. George Hillix were hostesses.

A daughter was born to Dr. and Mrs. Donald Johnson on Wednesday at Mercy Hospital.

Boy Scouting Presents Fine Code of Living

In these days when the evidence points to a widespread weakening of the American moral fibre, with major crimes climbing faster even than the increase in population, it is encouraging to note that a great moral force in America is growing stronger.

The Boy Scouts of America celebrated its 42nd birthday during Boy Scout Week, February 6 through 12. It was an occasion when we paused and considered its mark on the youth of the nation. Since 1910, more than 19 million American boys and men have been influenced by this Scout Oath:

"On my honor I will do my best—

To do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout Law.

To help other people at all times.

To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

For its young men members, known as Explorers, the Boy Scouts of America has this dedication pledge, which could well be adopted by all Americans:

"I will live the Scout Oath and Law. I will be familiar with the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights of the United States of America. I will respect and obey the law in order to have security and freedom.

I will share the responsibility of my home, school, church, neighborhood, and community; and when legally of age, I will register and vote in all elections. I will deal fairly and kindly with my fellow-citizens of whatever race or creed, in the spirit of the Scout Law and America's tradition of equality of opportunity.

"I will work to preserve our American heritage of liberty and responsibility. I acknowledge that the privileges we enjoy were won by hard work, and sacrifices, faith and clear thinking of our forefathers. I will do all in my power to pass on a better America to the next generation."

Today over 2,900,000 boys and men are actively enrolled in over 80,000 different units. Scouting is indeed a great asset to the nation. May it continue to succeed in influencing the lives of countless more boys as you go. "Forward—On Liberty's Team."

Hi-Y Day at Kiwanis Club

Wednesday was Hi-Y Day at the Kiwanis luncheon meeting. Acting as co-ordinator, Tom Warburton, youth chairman, presented Frank Cross, Helix High Hi-Y chairman, who spoke on the influence of the Hi-Y program on the community.

Four members of Lemon Grove Hi-Y, which is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, were present.

Noel Mickelson told of his trip to the Hi-Y Congress in Cleveland last year.

Gary Schickelzanz and Jack Campbell related their experiences and evaluated the Hi-Y Model Legislature program.

Don Brand told of the work of the local Hi-Y, which has 17 active members.

Harry Griffin and Harry Alspaugh were received into the Kiwanis Club.

In the business meeting conducted by Chan Mason, president, a "yes" vote was urged on the water proposition on February 26.

Evelyn Wigton's in Spring Style Show

The Ladies Aid of First Congregational Church will be assisted by the Young Mrs. in sponsoring a Spring Style Show presented by Evelyn Wigton's following dessert, in Friendship Hall at one o'clock on Tuesday, February 26.

This event is sponsored by the interior decorating committee. The proceeds will go toward the purchase of a new sanctuary carpet.

All women will be most welcome and any who wish to bring cards may remain for games.

Levy Urges Big Vote for Water

A county-wide drive, based on realization that the fate of the second aqueduct barrel will be decided by the voters of the City of San Diego, has been undertaken in all communities embraced in the San Diego County Water Authority area. The second barrel would double the delivery of Colorado River water.

The special water election is set for Tuesday, February 26, in the 10 member agencies of the Water Authority. Voters in county areas outside the city will mark a Water Authority ballot on which a single proposition—the second barrel contract with the Navy—will appear. San Diego voters will receive the Authority ballot and also a City ballot carrying a proposition pertaining to a collateral agreement and a proposition pertaining to a collateral agreement to complete the City's Sutherland Dam project.

All member agencies except San Diego already are committed, through their officials, to a collateral pact under which they will supply water to government establishments. In San Diego, because of charter requirements, the collateral agreement must be submitted to the electorate, and needs a two-thirds majority.

It is this two-thirds majority, together with the fact that the Sutherland proposition requires the same margin, that causes concern among county water leaders over the outcome, because without San Diego's O. K. on a collateral agreement the second barrel project cannot go forward.

R. M. Levy, president of the La Mesa, Lemon Grove and Spring Valley Irrigation District, heads a special committee directing the county's appeal to San Diego voters to approve the collateral agreement.

"County residents can help by contacting everyone they know in San Diego and urging them to vote for the second barrel, the collateral agreement, and Sutherland Dam," said Levy. "It is vital to our future that we have the second barrel to assure the urgently needed additional Colorado River water it will bring. Any delay in starting work on the second barrel, which will require at least two years to build, could be disastrous to the entire county. In addition to Colorado water, we need to develop fully all local water supplies."

Today over 2,900,000 boys and men are actively enrolled in over 80,000 different units. Scouting is indeed a great asset to the nation. May it continue to succeed in influencing the lives of countless more boys as you go. "Forward—On Liberty's Team."

Hoover Revives the 'Great Debate'; Association Reports on Farm Labor

GREAT DEBATE—Ex-President Herbert Hoover, in a major radio and television address, revived the "great debate" and possibly an important issue in the 1952 presidential campaign.

The 77-year-old former chief executive expressed alarm at the "dangerous overstraining of our economy by our gigantic expenditures" and urged reduction in our armies as a way to cut down on spending. Instead of armies, he would have the country concentrate on highly mobile air and sea forces for defense.

In explaining his viewpoint, he said: "The first purpose of this republic must be the defense of this final Gibraltar of freedom—that is, the Western Hemisphere." Western Europe, he added, must be told that it must provide its own ground armies and that the United States will provide air and sea shields and munitions, all that the country can afford.

For the home towners, who have been gravely concerned about the possibilities of war, the former president had a reassuring comment. There is a lack of alarm in Europe because of a number of reasons. These included the fact that the Russians could have conquered Europe before this if they wanted; that the Russians do not want to absorb any more nations now; that the Russians would be hard hurt in an atomic war, and that Italy's first interests are in Asia at the moment.

Hoover's last major speech was December 30, 1950. In it he criticized the administration's foreign policy and the handling of the Far East conflict. In his latest address he again attacked the Korean situation by saying "we denied ourselves victory" by not bombing Red China and using China's Kaid-shen's armies.

The "great debate" has been revived and it will become a growing issue as this presidential year progresses. And congress, now considering one of the greatest peacetime budgets in the nation's history, will watch jealously for reaction to the former president's speech in the home towns of the nation.

EGYPT—King Farouk of Egypt, who is one of the most unpredictable rulers in the world, dismissed the nationalist government that had brought its country and Britain to the verge of war. The action came after Cairo had made the scene of rioting, looting, and destruction of property by anti-British mobs.

The new Premier, Maher Pasha, held the same position early in World War II and is believed to be a little less anti-British than the ousted Premier Mustafa Naha Pasha. But it was evident that Britain still faced a serious situation in Egypt and the Suez canal zone. The new Premier announced he would continue to press for the evacuation of British troops from Egypt and the unification of Egypt and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan under Egyptian rule.

Meanwhile, Cairo was put under strict military rule and martial law declared for all of Egypt. At least 35 buildings were destroyed by fire during the rioting and 100 persons killed. Martial law will remain in effect for at least two months, the government announced.

FARM WASTE—The National Planning Association, a nonprofit, non-political organization of leaders in industry, agriculture, labor and the professions, reports the productive effort of 2,000,000 farm families in the nation is being wasted.

The association said these families are not producing for a number of reasons, including insufficient land, lack of capital, unsuitable methods, low educational standards, isolation from markets, and "static" community standards.

As for underemployment, the association reported it most pronounced in the cotton South—excluding highly mechanized areas, the southern Appalachian and Ozark mountains, the cut-over lands of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, the mountainous areas of northern New Mexico and Arizona, and the southern counties of Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio.

CRISIS AHEAD—In a report on the government's year-end effort to stabilize prices and wages in line, government officials report moderate success, but warn of a crisis ahead. Charles E. Wilson, mobilization director, said the official who warned that there is a crisis ahead in the battle against inflation.

Michael V. DeSalle, director of the office of price stabilization, said: "It is gratifying to realize that after a full year the cost of living has been held to a very moderate increase."

And Nathan P. Feinsinger, chairman of the wage stabilization board, said: "I believe it can fairly be said that the control of the movement of wage rates since the establishment of our program is as good if not better than hoped for by experienced and objective observers."

The latest consumer's price index by the Bureau of Labor was 189.1—69.1 per cent higher than the average for the 1933-1939 years. That is an increase of 2.9 per cent since February, 1951, when the wage-price freeze was first reflected.

UMT FIGHT—One of the great fights shaping up in the present congress is universal military training. Congress has approved UMT in principle, but has not authorized machinery to get it into operation.

One round of that fight took place at a house armed services committee hearing. Chairman Carl Vinson, striking back at critics of the program, said charges that the program is un-American, anti-Christian, immoral and would lead to financial chaos.

Said Vinson: "If it is un-American and anti-Christian to defend the greatest Christian nation in the world through a fair, effective and less costly system of military training, then I plead guilty."

He said congress must approve UMT or defeat it and explain to the taxpayers that they must maintain an armed force of millions of men for the next 20 years through operation of the draft.

Many observers believe that Congress may enact a temporary measure this session, delaying action on a permanent measure until the 83rd congress meets.

ASIA—There seemed to be a general feeling in Washington and Asia that truce talks between the Communists and United Nations' delegates is on the verge of collapse. It was because of this feeling military leaders have been meeting to consider what steps should be taken such an event.

Meanwhile, the United States, Britain and France served plain notice they would call for United Nations action to meet any new Communist back in southeast Asia.

Russia recently charged that the West has been building up strength along the Burmese and Indochinese frontiers for an attack on Communist China. This, the three powers say, is to cover up for a possible Communist military move in that part of the world.

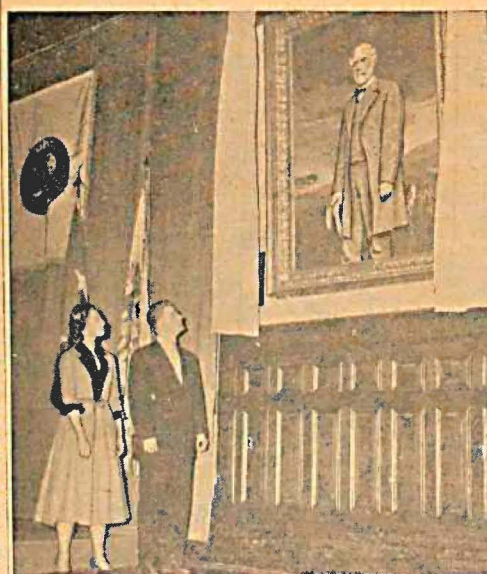

If nothing else, these charges and countercharges are an indication at trouble is building up in other parts of Asia.

FLYING CONGRESSMAN . . . Rep. Peter Mack (D., Ill.) landed in San Francisco to complete longest overseas hop on his round-the-world goodwill flight in a single-engine plane. He is standing on wing of plane shaking hands with airport official. He later completed the globe-circling hop in the aircraft without mishap. He described it as a goodwill mission to the places that he touched on the flight.

RIOTING CELEBRANTS . . . Police try to hold back crowds scrambling for candy dropped by a helicopter on the square. Outside the Abidin palace in Cairo during the celebration of the birth of a son to King Farouk and Queen Narriman. The prince was given the name Ahmed Fuad and given the title of Prince of Said. This occurred while other riots took place in different parts of Egypt in demonstrations for the departure of the British from the land.

LEE UNVEILED AT WEST POINT . . . Hanson Edward Ely III and Ann Carter Lee Ely, great-grandchildren of General Robert E. Lee, admire portrait of the general they have just unveiled at the United States military academy. The general wears the grey uniform of the Confederacy. It is the first portrait of a graduate of the academy in a Confederate uniform to be hung at West Point.

BRITISH MYSTERY PLANE . . . Photographed for first time is the Gloster GA 5, powered by two Armstrong Siddeley jets. It is a radar-equipped all-weather, day and night long-range Delta fighter, claimed by the RAF to be the only plane of its kind. It is better qualified than any other fighter to destroy atom bombers. Its speed, range, armament and radar gear are secret. Its unusual shape answers a design problem for aircraft traveling at sonic speeds.

THREATENING . . . Donald Rankin, Denver, accused of sending booby-trapped sticks of dynamite through the mails to James McCray, Bowling Green, Ohio, points threatening finger at photographer and gets arm ready to swing at camera.

LIBYAN STALWART . . . This proud Cyrenaican soldier represents the well-trained militia that keeps law and order in the world's newest kingdom—Libya. France, England and the United States have military forces in the new nation.

COLD WAR . . . Corporal George Waddington, New Kensington, Pa., is coping with the cold war in Korea by melting snow in his helmet to get washing water. Winter has come to Korea with below-zero temperatures on some parts of front.

CLEAN SWEEP . . . Politicians will resort to any stunt to keep in limelight. Here Senator Joseph McCarthy (R., Wis.) poses in front of Capitol with broom sent by club in Littleton, Wis., for him to clean corruption out of the Capitol.

BIG FISH . . . Boston Red Sox singer Ted Williams has put aside baseball thoughts or thoughts of his recall to the military corps to lead the annual Miami fishing tournament with a 10 pound, 11 ounce bonefish caught in Florida.

Military Training

IT'S a safe bet that congress will not legislate a universal military training program for 18-year-olds during the present session. Probably a "standby" law for future emergencies will be enacted—but that's all.

The proposed UMT bill now before congress would provide for 18 months of service, including six months of basic training, for all 18-year-old youths in peacetime after the present selective service law has expired.

Thus, the UMT program could not be initiated in the foreseeable future, since the present selective service or draft law will not be allowed to expire during the Korean War or during any threatening crisis thereafter.

At a closed-door session of the house armed services committee recently, Chairman Carl Vinson of Georgia tried to put over a Pentagon-approved compromise whereby UMT would be launched on a trial basis with an initial force of 80,000 volunteers.

However, the Georgia congressman pulled in his ears and abandoned the scheme when he couldn't get a single solid backer among his Democratic and Republican colleagues.

Congressmen James Patterson (Conn.), Arthur Winstead (Miss.), Walter Norblad (Ore.), Clyde Doyle of California, and others pointed out that it would be impractical and costly to have a token UMT and the draft program operating simultaneously. They also argued there wouldn't be enough seasoned officers to train UMT volunteers unless they were recalled from combat.

Eisenhower Smears

The smear which President Truman predicted for his friend Dwight Eisenhower have already started—in Maine and California. In the latter state, the so-called "Partisan Republicans," who do not otherwise identify themselves, are circulating copies of a scurrilous sheet accusing Eisenhower of being a stooge for Stalin.

Here are some typical smear quotes:

"The Communist party did not officially support Eisenhower for the presidency, but gave him a great ovation and boost at their convention in New York on May 20, 1944. Communists unanimously greeted 'three great men,' who were: Joseph Stalin, Marshal Tito and Dwight Eisenhower."

"The Soviet gangsters decorated Eisenhower with the Order of Suvorov which is given to those who serve the Soviet cause. What service did Eisenhower perform to warrant this great (?) honor? We remember that Roosevelt selected Eisenhower over 335 senior officers. Roosevelt knew that other generals would refuse to perform the pro-Soviet role which Eisenhower so obediently played."

"In the last stages of his career as president of Columbia University, Eisenhower again revealed his peculiar pro-Soviet bias. The case in point is the acceptance of $30,000 subsidy from the Communist government of Poland by Columbia university. This subsidy was donated to further Communism."

Later Maine's Sen. Owen Brewster, a member of the Taft inner circle, got hold of the above smear sheet and helped to have it circulated in Maine.

Grain Disappears

Next scandal to explode into headlines will result from a team of government investigators now trying to trace $3,800,000 worth of government grain that has mysteriously vanished from southwestern storage bins.

So far the investigators report:

1. Warehousemen have been peddling the taxpayers' grain for their own private profit.
2. Other warehousemen have negligently allowed grain to spoil.
3. At least 43 instances of missing grain still haven't been accounted for.

These findings have been reported to congress by Lindsay Warren's general accounting office, which checked the books of the Dallas Commodity office covering the states of Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. A copy of this confidential report has been obtained by this column.

"From our examination to date," the report declares, "it appears obvious that even a conservative estimate of shortages, in grain alone, would exceed $5,800,000."

Forced Action

Though "shortages were known to have existed in early 1951," the report complains that "action in regard to the known irregularities has had to be literally forced on the commodity office. Even after the situation had deteriorated to the extent where prominent grain operators in this area were demanding corrective action to protect the lead the annual Miami fishing tournament with a 10 pound, 11 ounce bonefish caught in Florida.

U. S. NEWSPAPERS

Use 60 Per Cent of World's Newsprint

According to the United Nations' 51-yearbook, the United States used 60 per cent of the world's newsprint in 1950, but was only seventh circulation.

The highest daily circulation in 50, in proportion to the population, was recorded in the United Kingdom with 999 copies for each 100 inhabitants. Australia had 455 copies a thousand; Luxembourg, 441; Denmark, 414; United States 357; and Switzerland 354.

Those countries which have suffered various curtailment in newspaper supplies, especially England, have maintained circumstances by a drastic reduction in size.

In Burma, India and Iraq there was only a circulation of six copies of daily newspapers per thousand population, the book reported.

LIFE SAVING

Improved Artificial Respiration Method Is Adopted by Red Cross

An improved method of artificial respiration, known as the back-pressure arm-lift has been adopted by the American National Red Cross, the armed services, several industrial firms, and other agencies and organizations.

Used in Norway, Denmark, and other European countries for many years, the method permits greater exchanges of air and can be administered without undue fatigue to the operator.

Research leading to the change in method predates World War II, when investigators first doubled the superiority of the prone pressure method. Since that time the Red Cross has conducted extensive studies in the fields of respiration and asphyxia. The armed forces became intensely interested in artificial respiration in connection with the possibility of poison gas or nerve gas warfare. About two years ago the

To start the cycle the operator places his hands on the victim's back so that the thumbs just touch and the heels of the hands are just below a line running between the armpits as illustrated above.

Army Chemical Corps assigned four research teams to study comparative values of various methods.

The results of the research showed that the prone pressure method was less effective in the amount of air exchanged. It compressed the chest but did not actively expand it. However, in the two-phase methods—such as the back-pressure arm-lift, the hip-lift, and the Silverster—the chest is actively expanded and compressed by the rescuer.

Research also showed that the hip-lift back-pressure method and the hip-roll back-pressure method are difficult to perform and cannot be done at all by frail rescuers on heavy victims. The Silverster method, for which the victim is placed on his back, was considered unsatisfactory for use by the general public since it is difficult to keep the air passages open.

The back-pressure arm-lift method was recommended because it does not tire the rescuer unduly, can be performed by a small person on a heavy victim, and is relatively easy to teach.

The Red Cross will include the new method in first aid and life saving courses as soon as possible. Three million supplements on the new system are being printed for inclusion in its first aid and water safety textbooks. The supplement will be available through Red Cross chapters at no charge.

The Red Cross pointed out that because of the widespread teaching program, the changeover cannot be accomplished immediately. Millions of persons already trained in the prone pressure method, which has saved many lives, should continue to use it until they have received training in the new method.

THE VICTIM is placed face down in a prone position with arms overhead and bent at the elbows, and head turned to one side so that the cheek rests on the hands. The rescuer, on one or both knees at the victim's head, places his hands on the victim's back, with thumbs just touching and the heels of the hands just below a line running between the victim's armpits. The rescuer rocks forward slowly, elbows straight, until his arms are almost vertical, exerting steady pressure upon the back. Next, the rescuer rocks backward slowly and slides his hands to the victim's arms, just above the elbows, which are raised until resistance is felt at the victim's shoulders—then, the arms are dropped. This completes a full cycle, which is repeated 12 times a minute.

GRASSROOTS

Present Administration Certainly Has the Brass

By Wright A. Patterson

AT THE CLOSE of World War II we had in the uniform of our armed forces close to 12 million men, of which a little more than 300 were generals or admirals, in other words "top brass."

Now with armed forces totaling only about one and a half million men we have over 3,000 generals or admirals. In the matter of "top brass" we are attempting to emulate the Mexican army, or the number of colonels on the staff of the governor of Kentucky.

An investigating committee of the senate is attempting to find the "why" of such an increase of high ranking officers, and what they are doing. That committee has demanded of the defense department a statement showing their jobs.

There are more than 3,000 generals and admirals, and it is the belief of members of that committee that they are but muddying the waters of the preparedness effort and adding materially to the cost of that preparedness.

This large number of "top brass" has not only filled the mammoth Pentagon building, but has forced the government to rent outside offices to accommodate the generals and admirals, and the members of their staffs, and the several thousands of civilian secretaries and clerks, the bureaucratic army over which they preside and command.

The general public, and especially the Republican party, may not be able to evaluate the good these generals and admirals do for the nation, or what they do to keep themselves busy, but they do know the why of the army of secretaries and clerks, the civilian bureaucrats. The close-to-200,000 of these have important jobs. At the coming election they will vote for those who provide them with jobs—those that pay them better salaries than they could earn elsewhere, and also keep them from the necessity of donning uniforms as privates in the armed forces.

Not only will these bureaucrats vote, but so will their relatives and friends, who are concerned with holding the jobs for the bureaucrats, a total of close to one million votes against the Republican candidates. The more generals and admirals, the more clerks they will employ and the more votes they and friends and relatives will cast.

The votes represented by the army of bureaucrats employed by the defense department in the Pentagon are but a part of the hurdle GOP candidates must be able to jump if they are to win.

No group in the nation is so close to political conditions and sentiment in the grass root areas as the editors of the rural newspapers. Their guess as to the political sentiment of the people of their communities are nearer correct than that of even the local politicians. The Publishers Auxiliary, a paper published for that group, some time ago took a poll of those rural editors. The Auxiliary asked each one of them to name his choice for a Republican candidate, and his guess as to who would be elected as the next President.

Their choice for a republican nominee was Eisenhower, by a wide margin, but they did not think that he, or any other Republican would be elected.

A vast majority predicted that President Truman would be the Democratic nominee, and that he would be elected in the November election. Elected hundreds of these editors personally and knowing how close they are to the people of their communities, I am convinced their prophecy as to the election of President Truman must be taken seriously.

A large majority of the rural press are either Republican or independent newspapers. Individually, they do not represent any great political influence. Collectively, they are a power in the farming areas. As a class, they dislike being ignored by the party organizations. They want to be invited to take a part in the national political campaign.

When invited most of them open their columns to the party or candidates of their choice, and they, collectively, exert a powerful influence in the farm areas. Political leaders would be well not to overlook them in planning their campaigns. Chances are the rural press can make or break the candidates they support, especially so in the farm states.

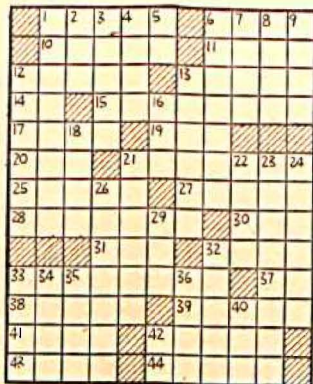

It has happened before, and it can happen again. In 1948 Herbert Brownell, the Dewey campaign manager, ignored the rural newspapers, and lost the election.

THE RED MUFFLER

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

CONSTABLE Simon McCall, noticed that the fringe of Bruce Wyatt's long woolen muffler was stained a deep red. Wyatt saw the officer's look of inquiry and glanced from the muffler, which still hung around his neck, to the dead form of Jim Cary.

"I must have got the blood on the muffler when I went over Jim on the bed there," he said.

Constable Simon nodded and glanced at the doctor, who was conducting an examination of the corpse.

"What time did you get back here?" Simon asked Bruce.

"About 15 minutes before I called you. I saw Jim on the bed. I knew he was dead, but I thought the doc ought to be called."

Simon listened only half attentively. He was trying to think of some one who would have a reason for killing Jim Cary. Cary and Bruce Wyatt were partners.

"Been dead about five hours," Doc Leland said, finishing his examination.

"Five, eh?" Simon mused. "That would make it about 10 o'clock last evening. The dance was at its height then. No telling who left and who didn't."

He turned suddenly to Bruce. "Where'd you go after the dance, Bruce?"

"Over to Jake Dearborn's. Him and me and some others played poker till about 2:30."

Simon smiled faintly. "Well, if Jake and the others back that up I guess we'd better look elsewhere for a suspect."

"Where yuh goin' to start? Who'd want to kill old Jim?" Wyatt asked.

"Old Jim? He's not so old. About 30, I guess," Simon said. "Thirty, and just now falling in love. I expect you knew about Jim's interest in Freda Burnett, Bruce?"

"Been dead about five hours," Doc Leland said, finishing his examination.

WYATT looked up quickly. "Why, no," he said. "No, I didn't know."

"You didn't?" Simon's voice was almost eager. "Well, well. That gives me the motive, then."

Wyatt stared blankly. "Eh?"

"I said, that little remark of yours provides a motive for the killing, Bruce. It makes you out a liar, too."

Bruce Wyatt thrust out his jaw in an angry gesture. "What the devil are you talking about, McCall?"

"About why you killed Jim."

"Me? Killed him? You're crazy!"

"Oh, no, I'm not. You killed him because you were crazy about Freda yourself and you couldn't stand to see Jim getting in there ahead of you. You did it last night about 10 o'clock when every one was at the dance."

"You must be sick yourself, Simon. You don't know what you're saying. You can't prove that. You said yourself no one would be able to tell who left the dance long enough to come over here, murder Jim and get back again."

"That," said Constable Simon easily, "is something I won't have to worry about. The fact is, I know you've lied to me twice, and I know you were still lying when you said that Jim was dead. That's enough to make an arrest on, since you're so all-fired careful about thinking up alibis."

Wyatt opened his mouth and closed it again. He stood still, waiting, still puzzled.

And Simon explained: "The blood on your muffler, Bruce. You probably got it there when you bent over Jim all right, but that was shortly after 10 last evening. Blood, you know, dries and hardens within a few minutes. None would have got on your muffler five hours after the wound was made."

Doc Leland made a gasping sound, which was at once confirmation of the statement.

Bruce Wyatt's glance darted to the face of the doctor, and without looking again at Simon he leaped toward the wall.

But Constable McCall was a good shot. The interior of the tiny cabin fairly rocked with the crash of his service gun, mingling with the cry of pain from Bruce Wyatt as the heavy slug tore through his hand even as his fingers coiled about the rifle barrel.

THAT 'EXPANDING ECONOMY'

DEAR HI: The more I read about this "expanding economy" of ours the more I am puzzled. Can you explain it? Baffled Reader.

Glad to. An expanding economy is an economy in which a country over its head in debt and not knowing what to do about it phones its economy expert and orders another round of rainbows for the boys in the back room.

It is an economy arrived at by talking through your hat, figuring with invisible ink on a greased slate and arriving at conclusions by tea leaf reading in a mystic maze.

If you have ten apples and give away nine apples you really have one apple left under old-fashioned American economy, but in an expanding economy you have a paper bag full of imaginary apple trees and a statement assuring you that your overall apple outlook is good if you are unselfish.

An expanding economy depends upon the same routine as that employed by the janitor when he says the heat is on full when the apartment thermometer registers zero.

When you fall overboard and keep bumping your head on the bottom of the boat every time you come up for air, you may think you are in trouble. But don't worry. You are enjoying an expanded water carnival.

If the till is empty, the money belt in hock and the cashier's office full of I.O.U.'s, don't fret. Your basic economic strength is splendid and there are two explanations: Either your global view is faulty or you are a Republican.

To simplify. Once upon a time when the cow failed to give milk she was a sick cow. Today, it is all right as she oves the milk to herself. Should a cow give a promissory note instead of milk and merely moo when asked for another gallon she may not be much of a cow, but everything will be all right if she reduces inflationary pressures and avoids major dislocations.

In pappy's day if the hens stopped laying it meant he was short of eggs. Today you would know you were in an era of expanding henneries, facing new frontiers unafraid, and that both you and the hens were experiencing a healthy economic growth.

Not clear yet? Listen, move closer, please! If you have a hen on a setting of six real eggs you are in the poultry business. But if it is a rooster on a setting of a dozen china eggs, a recipe for eggnog and a poem on peacocks you are in an expanding economy and doing swell.

Yesterday when a man found himself in economic trouble he said, "This doesn't look good." Today, he takes an expansive posture, phones an expansive economist and gets the answer, "Bay, are we in clover?"

Once when your books couldn't be balanced, your adding machine began giving wrong answers and your wallet had sprung a leak you worried. Today, forget it, bub; you have achieved a material well being never known before.

You still don't get it? One more try: You are clinging by three fingers to a flying trapeze; there is no net under you and somebody has hooked a ton of pig iron to each leg. You may think you are in danger. Nonsense. Your basic strength is all right and requires only confidence and sacrifice. It is no time for faintheartedness. Get some more pig iron on you, vote the straight Democratic ticket and request a letter from Washington notifying you that there is a net under you, even if it is not visible. (If you look again and still see no net you are not cooperating.)

Camp Fire News

Joan Fraser was elected president of the Ranchland Blue Bird group (junior branch of the Camp Fire Girls) at a recent meeting. Others elected were Janice Mitchell, secretary, and Janice Martin, treasurer. Mrs. Lewis Torrey is leader of the group, which has finished constructing and dressing a family of "tissue paper dolls" to be presented to a children's ward of a local hospital.

Blue Birds enjoy the gayer side of life, too, so they plan a merry St. Valentine's party today (Thursday), when they are to be guests of one of their sponsors, Mrs. Edward Martin, in her home on Dupont Drive. Thursday is the regular meeting day for the group, all of whom are students at Monterey Heights School in the morning classes.

Members Susan Ferguson, Becky Gates, Joan Fraser and Verne Torrey formed the honor guard for the colors at the February meeting of the Monterey Heights PTA.

Another Monterey Heights Blue Bird group, the Sweet Pea group, also elected officers recently. Lois Dues, president; Sherry Netzel, vice president; Jean Batheider, secretary; Sandra Weimer, treasurer and Bonnie Holstrom, Susan Hobson, Lani Bergquist, Joyce Herr, Eloa Elster and Marcia Batheider, song leaders for successive spring months.

Girls of this group are skilled with needle and thread, as proven today when they were to present their mothers with samples of their handiwork in honor of St. Valentine: heart-shaped pin-cushions of red-and-white checked taffeta trimmed with narrow ruffles of white lace and featuring each mother's initials embroidered in the center.

Since they attend school afterwards, Tuesday morning is their regular meeting day. Mrs. Alvin C. Bergquist and Mrs. J. A. Holstrom are sponsors of the group.

ATTEND FESTIVAL

Messrs. and Mmes. Roy Close, Ernest Denlinger, Clarence Montgomery, Kirk Muse, Frank Dyson, Gene Horstman, Pete Mighello and Jay Little, Miss Rosalie Rier, Roy Lantz and Bob Auke attended the Carrot Festival in Holtville Saturday and Sunday. They enjoyed square dancing both days and seven of the group assisted in calling. Mr. and Mrs. Close were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilson.

LETTER TO REVIEW

Lemon Grove Review
Dear Mr. and Mrs. Graham:
I have just been sitting out in the sunshine, looking at Mt. Helix with its big white Cross against the blue sky. Many many times I have been grateful for that Cross, which seems to watch over this area. On Sundays, it is lighted all night, and often on a dark and early Monday morning, I have been encouraged by seeing its steady light before dawn. During Christmas and Easter week, also, it is kept lighted—a beacon of hope. Year in and year out, it has been a symbol of light, courage, and love.

As one of the citizens of this area, I wish to voice my appreciation of the generosity and thoughtfulness of the people responsible for this ever-present monument of hope. Of course, I have read the bronze tablets on the mountain, in memory of the loved mother. But who keeps the Cross in repair; who pays for the lights; who is responsible for the upkeep of the mountain top? Is it the City of La Mesa? To whom could one express gratitude for this memorial, whose message everyone who sees it may share?

In gratitude for this beneficial influence over our countryside, I am, Sincerely—Mary Esther Ray, (Mrs. Russell Ray.)

THETA OMICRON

Mrs. Bernard Le Blanc was hostess to Theta Omicron Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Wednesday evening in her lovely new home at 2312 Loma drive. Special guest of the evening was Dorotea Long Bonsignore (Mrs. Richard), gifted leading lady and playwright with the La Mesa and Country players.

Mrs. Bonsignore read an entertaining comedy as first program of a series on "The Drama," current study from the sorority book, "Paths to Loveliness." A discussion period followed the reading. The program was arranged by Mrs. Robert Argo, program chairman, who introduced the talented guest. The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. W. E. Beistline, president.

Other guests included the hostess' mother, Mrs. Charles Furrer, and her sister, Mrs. Paul Butterfield; also, Mmes. Howard Kohler and A. H. Osterberg.

Mrs. E. E. Cain, an active member of the chapter, has had to become inactive temporarily, as she is convalescing from a broken ankle at her home, 7150 Broadway. Her many friends are wishing her a speedy recovery.

What points the WAY?

There are a good many fine insurance agencies—with experience and knowledge and services which recommend them highly to the public. How can you tell which one is the best? What points the way? There are a number of things. First of all, good agents represent good insurance companies. Next, the good agent is always anxious to render services which are unusual but essential to the insurance welfare of his policyholders. He will go to any length to make sure that his policyholders are protected.

Helix, Grossmont Rivalry Renewed Tomorrow

The Helix-Grossmont athletic rivalry is renewed again tomorrow (Friday) night at the Grossmont gym where the two schools meet in a City Prep League basketball game.

Last month, the Highlanders downed the Foothillers, 43-31, to make up for a 13-6 Helix loss in football last November. The winner of tomorrow's clash will thus take the lead in the Helix-Grossmont rivalry.

Game time for the preliminary clash, featuring Class B teams, is 7 p. m., with the varsity encounter following approximately at 8:30.

Last Friday the Highlanders were idle, drawing a bye from league play. The Tuesday preceding that, Helix lost a 44-41 decision to the strong San Diego Cavemen.

Next Tuesday, the Helix five travels to Point Loma where they will seek to upset the second place Lomans. On Thursday they close the season, hosting the Kearny Komets in the Grossmont gym. Varsity game time for both of next week's games is 8:30 p. m. C. P. L. standings:

CITY PREP LEAGUE (As of Monday, February 11)
	Won Lost
Hoover	9 0
Point Loma	7 1
San Diego	5 3
Helix	3 5
Kearny	3 6

Varsity Surprise Foes In Y Tourney Upset

Vista La Mesa Hi-Y's basketball squad shocked a favored Rolando five, 36-34, in an exciting overtime duel last Saturday night at the Downtown YMCA gym in the Y-sponsored Hi-Y cage tournament.

Paced by 6'5" Center Ron Hodge, Chuck Harter, and Gory Keeler, the Vistans overcame Rolando's 19-16 halftime lead, and tied the score at 32-32 at the end of the regulation time. Vista La Mesa outscored their Rolando foes, 4 to 2 in the 3-minute overtime period to claim victory.

In another game of local interest, Lemon Grove Hi-Y bowed to the Blue and Gold club, 28-13. Despite the efforts of Wayne Williams and Junior Herrera, the Grovers were outclassed by their experienced foes.

Tournament action swings into full swing again Saturday night at the Y, with games running from 6 to 9 p. m.

Drifting

By BOB GALLANDT

Last Sunday morning the Drifters assembled in front of the Sugar Plum at 9 a. m., to be started at ten-minute intervals on a Reliability Run. Seven couples and four or five boys participated in the race against time to Felicitia Park, near Escondido. The committee in charge, Don Denton, Warren Fay and Bill Terry, had the course charted and the time computed for the run. Dan Barker led off the contestants, and the last car off was driven by Allen Lindsley.

Some rather amazing records were hung up. The winning car was only 10 seconds off the prescribed elapsed time and there was only one minute, fifty seconds spread between the first three cars to arrive.

A reliability run, or road run, is similar to a race only in that those competing are called contestants. The object of the run is to traverse a known distance of a prescribed route, observing all the speed zones, stop signs, etc., in a given time limit. That's all—no speeding or racing allowed.

The car coming closest to the allowed time was driven by Allen Lindsley, second place was Don Schmidt, president, and third, Mickey Seward. Prizes were awarded. Following this the club, girls included, played some football, and baseball. Lunches were enjoyed.

Allen Lindsley, our boy for this week, was born in 1932, in La Mesa, schooling in La Mesa and Grossmont, where he lettered in study hall, "Moose," as he is called, is a bricklayer by trade, and is employed here by Al Jamison. He has a little trouble squeezing his big frame into his '38 Ford coupe, which once was stock, now runs a little better.

He is used to swimming. Three years ago, he drove his own micro-midget in the El Cajon area, and says he won about one-fourth of the time. A rollover ended his racing career.

Well that's about it for this week, just remember that regardless of what the speed limit sign says, no one may ever drive any faster than is safe!

PARENTS GUILD

The Parent's Guild of St. John of the Cross School will serve a hot school luncheon to all children of the school next Tuesday. Mothers are cooperating and baking cupcakes for the dessert so that more money can be turned over to the Playground Equipment fund.

The Guild will sponsor an all school paper drive on the weekend of February 22, 23 and 24. This drive will include papers, magazines, rags and cardboard. Papers are to be tied in bundles and will be accepted from now until February 24, at the booths near the rodeo grounds.

February is Catholic Press Month. Members of the Guild will be outside the church all morning Sunday, February 17, with samples of periodicals and application blanks for subscriptions.

Car Comfort Is Aim of Americans

Americans cheerfully spend about two-billion dollars a year to give their cars "the comforts of home," says Carol Lane, the noted feminine authority on car comfort.

Today's passenger car can be converted into a home-on-wheels with every convenience except indoor plumbing, she points out.

Miss Lane covers 50,000 miles a year as women's travel director of an oil company, ferreting out ideas and testing gadgets that add to the family's driving enjoyment.

Without leaving the driver's seat, the motorist can reach into a portable refrigerator for a cold snack, tuck baby into an inflatable crib, write memos on a desk attached to the steering column, or make a phone call. There are collapsible pots, cutlery, stoves, tables and chairs that nestle compactly in the trunk. Or an expandable "bedroom" for three that perches securely on the car roof, to mention a few of the conveniences available.

The average new car owner spends about $330 on such standard motoring comforts as a radio, heater, seat-covers, automatic window-washer and extra mirrors, Miss Lane says. Owners of older cars invest from $50 to $100 on a variety of gadgets ranging from a plug-in baby bottle warmer to a heated steering wheel for winter-haters.

And in some states, where it's legal, the motoring family can enjoy TV in their cars too!

Night Coughing Quickly Relieved by Home Mixture

Saves Big Dollars. No Cooking. This splendid recipe is used by millions because it makes such an effective medicine for coughs due to colds. It's so easy to mix a child could do it.

From any drugstore get 2½ ounces of Pines, a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its soothing effect on throat and bronchial irritations.

Then make a syrup with two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. Put the Pines into a pint bottle and fill up with your syrup. This makes a full pint of cough medicine, very effective and quick-acting, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.

This cough syrup takes hold of coughs, giving quick relief. It loosens phlegm, soothes irritated membranes, helps clear air passages. Money refunded if Pines doesn't please.

Smiles

The Whole Load

Bill Alexander, Oklahoma preacher-politician tells the story about when he was just starting out as a preacher and went to a small country church. Only a single farmer showed up, and embarrassed, Alexander asked: "Tell me this, brother. If you took a load of hay down to the pasture to feed your cows, and only one cow came up, would you feed her?"

"Yeah, preacher," the farmer said. "I believe I would."

Alexander then got up, sang a few songs, passed the collection plate, preached for 40 minutes, pronounced the benediction and walked out of the church with the farmer. At the door, as he shook hands with him, the farmer said: "You know, preacher, I been thinkin'. If I took that load of hay down to the pasture and only one cow came up—yeah, I'd feed her all right, but damn if I'd give her the whole load."

Up and Down

The elevator operators at the Capitol in Washington are given to brooding over the world's troubles. "How's business?" a passenger asked one of these up-and-down philosophers. The operator looked at him moodily. "I'm not a man," he said despondently. "I'm a yo-yo."

Dreamer

The elevator girl in the hospital waited pointedly for the man to call his floor. "What's yours?" she said at last. He roared. "It's a boy."

It's Wonderful the Way Chewing-Gum Laxative Acts Chieftly to REMOVE WASTE -NOT- GOOD FOOD

Here's the secret millions of folks have discovered about FEEN-A-MINT, the modern chewing-gum laxative. Yes, here is why FEEN-A-MINT's action is so wonderfully different!

Expect not that many other laxatives start their "flushing" action too soon—right in the stomach where food is being digested. Large doses of such laxatives upset digestion, flush away nourishing food you need for health and energy. You feel weak, worn out.

But gentle FEEN-A-MINT, taken as recommended, works chiefly in the lower bowel where it removes mostly waste, not good food! You avoid that typical weak, tired, run-down feeling. Use FEEN-A-MINT and feel your "peppy," energetic self—full of life! Get FEEN-A-MINT! No purchase necessary. Still 25c. 50c or only 10c.
